what's inside Welcome to the Real Ozarks

Welcome to the Real Ozarks, the one and only Ozark County, Missouri, a remote and rugged haven where nature outshines neon and "heavy traffic" is something you're more likely to encounter on the rivers than on the roads.

Stay for a while, and you too may find there's something magical about the mornings when the mist hugs the hollows as the sun creeps over the hills. And what can compare with a night sky so clear and dark the stars seem close enough to touch?

The rush of the rivers' see-through water, the rhythm of the lakes lapping against their shores, the sounds of the woods, the beauty of spring blossoms floating through the forest. . . Don't be surprised if these treasures call to you the next time you're back in the city.

An Ozark County vacation combines the ease of modern conveniences and the appeal of bygone days. Modern resorts with all the amenities, whether they're tucked "back in the sticks," stretched along the river or overlooking our two Corps of Engineers lakes, offer the same down home charm and personal friendliness that "mom-and-pop" lodging has provided for decades. Come for a stay, and soon you'll probably feel more like family than guests.

Our hills offer thousands of acres of beautiful conservation areas and national forest webbed by hiking trails and scenic drives and dotted with campgrounds. The abundant wildlife, especially deer and turkey, make Ozark County a prime area for hunting.

And our waterways - lakes and rivers – are famous for trophy-winning fish. Canoeing, kayaking and tubing are popular pastimes on Bryant Creek and the North Fork of the White River, and Ozark County's friendly outfitters are ready to make the adventure easy for you.

If you prefer motorized water sports, the county's two full-service marinas offer rentals of everything you'll need to enjoy a day, or a week, cruising our lakes. Of course, they also offer stalls for you BYOB (bring your own boat) visitors too.

Come to Ozark County, and leave all the stress and hubbub behind. This is not a bright lights, big city kind of place. It's a retreat where visitors and residents slow down, settle in and soak up the peaceful pleasures of some of the oldest mountains on earth.

If you're like a lot of folks, the biggest problem you'll have is leaving. That's what happens when you discover the Real Ozarks.

ABOUT THIS YEAR'S COVER

Getting here

Ozark County, Missouri, is nestled amid the hills, rivers and lakes near the center of the Missouri-Arkansas border. This scenic, secluded heart of the Ozarks is far away from rush-hour traffic and big-city hubbub – but easy to get to if you know the way. Come visit!

Driving directions

Directions are to Gainesville, the county seat of Ozark County.

From Branson

Head east on Highway 76 for 14 miles to Highway 160. Then turn east (right) and continue for 45 miles to Gainesville.

From Kansas City

Take US 71 south to MO 7 south to Clinton. From Clinton, take MO 13 south to Springfield (see note about GPS below). Then take I-44 east to US 65 south. Take US 60 east to Mansfield and turn south onto MO 5 south to Gainesville.

From Springfield

Disregard what your GPS may suggest! Here's the route most locals take: Head east from Springfield on Highway 60 to Mansfield (45 miles). Turn south onto Highway 5 toward Ava then continue south for another 30 miles from Ava to Gainesville.

From St. Louis

Take I-44 west to Rolla. Then take US Highway 63 south to West Plains. From there, take US Highway 160 west to Gainesville.

of the White River The North Fork of the White River is picturesque in all seasons, but floating the river in the fall amongst the fall foliage is a real treat. This photo, taken and submitted by Gainesville resident Kevin Rodrigue, shows the autumn-lined North Fork in its fall glory.

Fed by springs and protected by national forest for the top two-thirds of its 50-mile length, the North Fork of the White River in eastern Ozark County is a pristine jewel among the Ozarks float streams. A national forest recreation area, Missouri Department of Conservation access points, a legendary old grist mill and Blue Ribbon and Red Ribbon trout areas enhance the river's appeal to vacationers and locals alike.

Since its upper reaches are in the Mark Twain National Forest, the North Fork retains its native natural character and has good watershed protection. The section from Highway 14 (Twin Bridges) south to H Highway (Patrick Bridge) is near-wilderness, and this stretch of river is fed by large springs that emerge amid stands of short-leaf pine and other lush forest. Seasonal water levels are consistent enough to keep some part of the North Fork always floatable, and although the gradient of the lower sections is not as spectacular as the river flows into Lake Norfork, the volume is good and the scenery is beautiful.

Juli Bottjen is pictured here holding a cray-fish, or "crawdad" as many locals call them. The photo was taken at Haskins Ford, in the upper reaches of Bull Shoals Lake, but the invertebrates are plentiful in other bodies of water like the North Fork of the White River. Bring a bucket and quick hands to see if you can catch one!

Anglers fishing the North Fork of the White River can expect to catch quality trout in a variety of lengths overall.

Catch-and-release practices are recommended to help sustain trout numbers while the population recovers from the record flood.

The Blue Ribbon Trout Area (BRTA), which runs from Rainbow Spring to Patrick Bridge Access, is still the best-bet for rainbow trout. Anglers will continue to notice that the body condition of these fish is very good. Wooly buggers, pats rubber legs and prince nymphs bounced along the bottom are traditionally good wet fly patterns, while Adams and elk hair caddis dry flies work well when fish are surface feeding. Crayfish and minnow imitating crankbaits as well as various spinners are also effective.

The opportunity to catch brown trout in the Red Ribbon Trout Area (RRTA), from Patrick Bridge to Norfork Lake, has declined since a record flood in 2017. Anglers should expect the majority of brown trout to range from 12-15 inches but also expect fewer numbers of brown trout when compared to the pre-flood years.

Quality brown trout also migrate into the BRTA and can be pursued with streamers. To catch more brown trout, try fishing during the sunrise and sunset hours. Stocking of brown trout will continue in the spring and fall to provide anglers with quality fishing opportunities.

Anglers can also expect more abundant numbers of black bass, striped bass and other warm-water species migrating into the RRTA and BRTA due to the recent spring high water events and sustained high water Norfork Lake levels throughout the summer.

Bluegill, channel catfish and largemouth bass are a proven stocking combination that provides both food and sport-fishing. When stocked in this order and properly managed, these species provide great fishing and good eating.

Smallmouth bass can be caught in good numbers throughout the North Fork of the White River. Most of the fish will be 12-15 inches. However, there are decent numbers of quality fish which exceed 15 inches.

Jigs, crankbaits and soft plastic baits are good choices for catching small-mouth bass (soft plastics cannot be used in the Blue Ribbon Trout Area).

Goggle-eye also occur throughout the river, but anglers can expect lower catch rates after recent floods. These fish can be caught on the same type of lures as smallmouth, but generally smaller versions are more productive.

mallmouth and

Be sure to concentrate fishing efforts in and around aquatic vegetation, boulders and rootwads.

Among the most popularly photographed sites in Ozark County is Hodgson Mill, located on Bryant Creek near the Sycamore Access. Photo by Lindsay Sellers.

QUIETER THAN THE NORTH FORK

Bryant Creek, often called simply "the Bryant" by locals, is a relatively wild stream. It has slightly less paddling mileage than the North Fork of the White River and is highly fishable. There are no public canoe outfitters that service the Bryant, meaning only those who plan to bring and shuttle their own boats can float it. Because of the lack of outfitters, the Bryant doesn't boast the big crowds the North Fork sometimes does. Less spring-fed, the Bryant has less volume and can be more difficult to float at times because it is narrower and has more obstacles - but it also has some fairly fast rifts. Before floating sections above Hodgson Mill in the summer, it's wise to find out if those sections have enough water to float without having to wade and portage the shallow riffles.

FISHING THE BRYANT }

Bass anglers fishing below Highway 181 at Hodgson Mill will encounter more largemouth and spotted bass than those fishing upstream of the bridge. Ozark bass (goggle-eye) can be found in good numbers around rootwads and aquatic vegetation. Anglers can expect most of their catch to be over 6 inches with an occasional fish greater than 9 inches. Bass anglers can expect good catch rates of black bass (largemouth, smallmouth and spotted bass), although the vast majority of fish will be less than 12 inches. Walleye can be found in the lower river inhabiting the deeper pools and positioned around boulders and rootwads. Channel catfish can be found throughout most of Bryant Creek, although they are most prevalent in the section downstream of Highway 181 at Hodgson Mill. Anglers should expect good fishing for this species and should catch fish of all sizes.

Lake

Bull Shoals Lake features open stretches perfect for boating; quiet, secluded coves great for swimming and water sports; clear, uncrowded water for scuba divers; and 48,195 surface acres of water that offer rewarding fishing for largemouth and smallmouth bass, crappie and striped bass. Whatever your lake plans, Ozark County's two concessionaire-operated marinas (described below) can get you going.

Theodosia Marina Resort, off Highway 160 in Theodosia, offers rentals of a variety of boats and equipment for fishing and fun on the water. A boat-andmotor sales and repair facility is affiliated with the marina. Marina staff can help you connect with local fishing guides, and the marina's gift shop/ convenience store sells fuel, picnic supplies, beverages, fishing tackle and bait, water skis, boat accessories, clothing and novelties. The marina also offers short- and long-term boat-stall rentals. Nearby Fort Cook offers several types of lodging choices plus pads for motorhomes and a swimming pool for guests. The resort's adjoining campground and nearby Corps of Engineers boat ramp stay busy throughout the summer season. Cookie's restaurant is a popular eatery for tourists and locals alike. 417-273-4444. tmrbullshoals.net. See ad, page 4.

Water tubing is a popular activity in Ozark County. This photo, taken of several friends tubing, was shared by Thornfield resident LaTasha Cook. The group of kids was enjoying Bull Shoals Lake, "where memories are made!" LaTasha said.

Pontiac Cove Marina is a full-service marina, campground and resort located in Pontiac off Highway W southwest of Gainesville. Amenities include nightly and long-term boat slips, boat rentals, fuel dock, scuba air station and a convenience store/gift shop with bait, tackle, Missouri fishing licenses, boating accessories, stand-up paddleboards, towables, souvenirs, snacks, soda and beer. Stay at one of Lake Harbour Resort's six fully furnished suites or at the Red Barn Lodge, which sleeps 10, and Loft, which sleeps five. Eat at Just Jackie's restaurant located within the park and is accessible to boaters. The Pontiac bluffs on the northwest corner of the park are a favorite jumping-off point for lake-going daredevils. 417-679-3676. pontiaccove.com. See ad, page 21.

Lake

Ed Doiron shared this photo of Tecumseh Access on Norfork Lake. The access sustained extensive damage last year in a flood, and those interested should inquire to see if it is open before planning a trip this year.

About 2,000 acres of the 22,000-acre Norfork Lake extend into Missouri. Recreation is recognized as an important resource, attracting fisherfolk and water-sports-loving lake-goers who enjoy the Norfork's clear, spring-fed water. For a beautiful overview of Lake Norfork, drive across the Highway 101 bridge south of Bakersfield.

The popular Tecumseh access on Norfork Lake off Highway 160 offers lake-goers a boat ramp, separate kayak/canoe ramp and large parking lot. The access was damaged in November 2024, so inquire if it's open before making a trip. Other boat accesses on Norfork Lake in and near Ozark County include Bridges Creek (known locally as "Stump Hole") located off County Road 551B (Smokey Road), Udall on O Highway, Liner Creek off T Highway, and Calamity Beach on Baxter County Road 24 off Arkansas Highway 201 in Clarkridge, Arkansas. Ozark County is a good base for exploring the rest of the lake, Fishing.

Fishing is a popular pastime on Lake Norfork. Anglers can catch bass, walleye, crappie, striped bass, catfish and other species. The Tecumseh access of Lake Norfork off Highway 160, an especially popular fishing spot for the annual spring white bass run, is usually preceded by good walleye fishing followed by excellent hybrid catches.

History.

Norfork Lake, like Bull Shoals, is in the White River Basin. Both were originally built for flood control and power generation. President Harry Truman came to the Ozarks in July 1952 to dedicate both Norfork and Bull Shoals dams, constructed and maintained by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in Arkansas a few miles south of the state line.

The Norfork reservoir is formed by a large concrete dam across the North Fork of the White River four miles upstream from where the North Fork runs into the White River at the City of Norfork, Arkansas. It also serves as a bridge across the river gorge. The dam is less than an hour's drive south of Gainesville, and a great nearby visitor's center about the dam offers an interesting educational experience for guests of all ages.

Wildlife watching

This conservation area helped nurture the rebirth of the eastern wild turkey after the state's population dropped to fewer than 2,500 birds. Today wild turkeys can be found in good numbers, as can whitetail deer, squirrels, birds and many other native species. Bald eagle sightings are common, especially during the winter. Two wheelchair-accessible wildlife viewing blinds, placed on the edges of managed food plots, provide a good opportunity for visitors to spot wildlife and take photos. Find the viewing blinds on the map, page 38.

Bring you creek shoes.

Get your toes wet, look for crawdads or just enjoy the sound of natural water surrounding you in Caney Mountain Conservation Area's water features. The area includes 112 intermittent streams including the 3-mile-long Caney Creek, the Spout Spring and over 40 fishless ponds Caney Mountain features three scenic overlooks with picnic tables atop Preston Flats (see map, page 38) that allow visitors to witness Ozark County's spectacular views. All three spots are marked by "scenic vista" signs. One vista features a view that stretches all the way to Arkansas.

Take a hike - or two.

Two designated hiking trails weave through the center wildlife refuge section of Caney Mountain Conservation Area. The Spout Spring Trail is an easy 1.5-mile out-and-back trail that passes through a variety of surroundings and runs along a creek, giving a glimpse of Spout Spring near the end. The Long Bald Nature Trail is a half-mile loop through glade country. Dozens of other unnamed multi-use trails, gravel roads and forestry roads run throughout the acreage and can be used by the public for hiking, bicycling or horseback riding. Maps are generally not available at the conservation area, so it's wise for travelers to download or bring their own before visiting. A map is available on page 38 or at https://nature.mdc.mo.gov/sites/default/files/downloads/conservationareas/5202map.pdf.

Iuntin

Public hunting: Canev Mountain Conservation Area is separated into three zones, and two of them – Zone 3 on the north end and Zone 2 on the south end – are open to public hunting. Hunting is prohibited in the center (Zone 1) "natural area," except for managed deer and turkey hunts. Managed hunts: The center of the Caney Mountain Conservation Area, zone 1, is considered the natural area or wildlife refuge. This 1,100-acre section is closed to public deer and turkey hunting all year with the exception of a few managed hunts that include a muzzleloader deer hunt, an archery deer hunt, spring archery and shotgun turkey hunts and a youth-only spring shotgun turkey hunt. Participants are selected for the managed hunts in a lottery drawing, with application deadlines submitted several months ahead of the hunts. For more information or to submit an application to be considered for a management hunt, visit huntfish.mdc.mo.gov.

A public archery range is located just past the headquarters.

Visitors and residents can sight in weaponry at one of three ranges at Caney Mountain Conservation Area. The archery range features a static range as well as field targets with a tree-stand platform available for use. The rifle and handgun range features target distances of 25-100 yards, and a range restricted to muzzleloaders includes two stations with 50- and 100-yard distances.

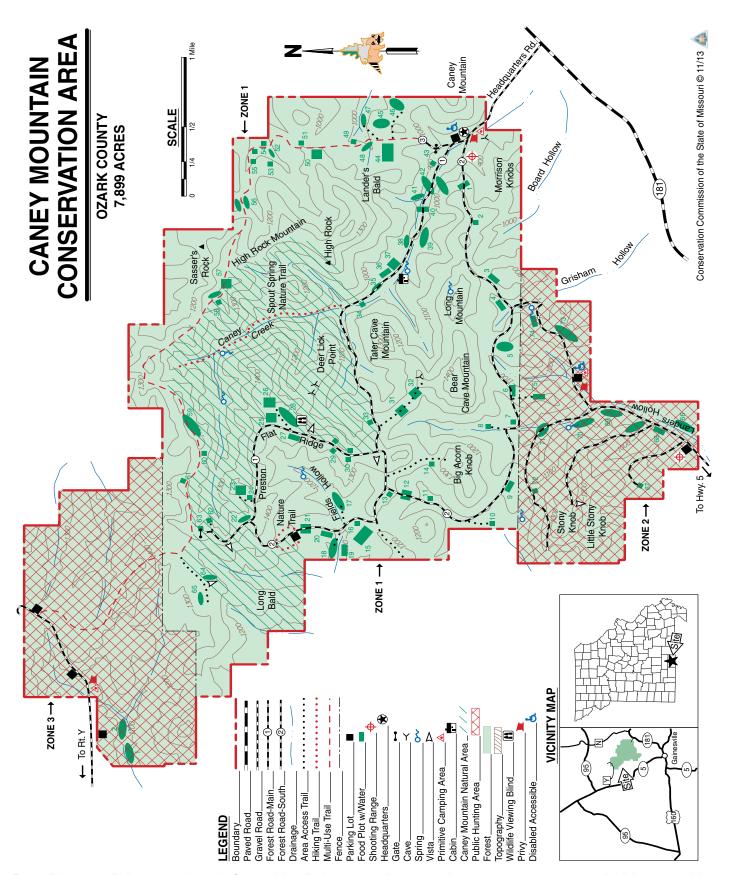

Pitch a tent or bring an RV to camp at one of the many campsites within the park. They include privies. rings and picnic tables.

With multiple scenic overlooks, tree covered trails, babbling creeks and picnic tables tucked into picturesque spots, Caney Mountain Conservation Area is a nature-lovers paradise where beauty is abundant but humans are not. Carr Ward submitted this photo, which he's titled "The Call of Caney Mountain."

Caney Mountain Conservation Area has three access points. All directions are from Gainesville. Zone 1: Take Highway 181 north 5 miles. Turn left onto Headquarters Road, the graveled entrance to the conservation area. Zone 2: Take Highway 5 north 2 miles. Turn right onto County Road 107 and continue for a half-mile. Zone 3: Take Highway 5 north 10 miles. Turn right (east) onto Highway Y and drive 3 miles, then turn right onto County Road 116. Continue until you reach the entrance.

Due to little-to-no cell phone reception, and often no visitor display maps at the conservation area, guests are encouraged to bring a map with them when exploring Caney Mountain Conservation Area. This map is available on the Missouri Department of Conservation website at https://nature.mdc.mo.gov/sites/default/files/downloads/conservation-areas/5202map.pdf.

Notable areas include Hayden Bald, which has a picnic table and parking area, and Smoke Tree scenic overlook, a pull-off with a bench for sitting and taking in the view. The Corbitt Potter and Willie Lee areas are good for "dispersed camping" (meaning camping outside of a designated campground, which is allowed along the trail). The Arkansas View site has a picnic table and spectacular views south. Watershed Divide offers views of a vast area of countryside. Wolf Junction has a picnic table, and Big Creek Basin offers an impressive view. Close to the Glade Top Trail on the southwest side, trails are available for hikers, equestrians and dispersed campers. A vault toilet is located at the Hercules Tower trailhead.

Considered one of the most scenic locations in Missouri, the Glade Top Trail cuts through the Mark Twain National Forest and borders the Hercules Glade Wilderness Area, following narrow ridgetops rising 500 feet above the surrounding rolling countryside.

The Glade Top Trail is a Missouri National Forest Scenic Byway. Its wide, sweeping views of the Ozarks countryside are beautiful anytime of year, but they're especially breathtaking in the fall, when the hardwoods transform from their usual green blanket into a tapestry of vibrant autumn color. The all-weather road is accessible to all vehicles and is maintained regularly.

Seven overlook pull-off locations provide visitors with panoramic views of the Ozarks that reach 20 miles northwest to the Springfield Plateau and 40 miles south to the Boston Mountains in Arkansas.

Glade Top Trail is the perfect place to see wide open views of the surrounding countryside, changing its colors for each season. Misty McKay shared this photo, taken at Glade Top Trail in fall among the fall foliage.

Secret missions.

One way to enjoy and learn about the National Forest is through the Agents of Discovery missions game that can be played on a mobile device like a phone or a tablet. Sometimes the missions can be done virtually from anywhere; but other missions are only available when you are at a particular site. At the time this magazine was printed, the Forest had a mission that could be played when visiting the Glade Top Trail. If you can't make it out to the forest, there is also a healthy forest mission that can be played from anywhere. Agents of Discovery is a mobile game where you have to move to play. You're a secret agent with an animal guide to help you solve challenges in a mission. As you explore outdoor recreation areas, trails, museums and discovery centers, you will unlock the hidden challenges based on your location. Discover nature, science and culture. Instructions for downloading the app and playing the game are provided on the Mark Twain National Forest's website at www.fs.usda. gov/detail/mtnf/learning/kids/?cid=fseprd1055869.

nique landscape.

Missouri has some of the greatest abundance and diversity of glades in the United States, and Glade Top Trail lies within the heart of the best remaining examples of this unique natural landscape. Also known as barrens, balds or knobs, glades consist of areas of thin soil with relatively large amounts of exposed bedrock, and they're dominated by herbaceous vegetation. The glades provide habitat for some species not generally found in the Ozarks, including the Bachman sparrow, a state endangered species. If you're lucky, you might see the colorful eastern collared lizard, pictured left.

Directions

From Gainesville, travel north on Highway 5 about 25 miles. Turn left on Highway A in Douglas County. (Note: Ozark County has an A Highway just south of Wasola; don't turn there.) Go 3.6 miles and turn left on County Road 409, where you'll see a Glade Top Trail sign. The trail's south end can also be accessed at Longrun, off Highway 95 in Ozark County. From the west, access the trail from Highway 125, 2 miles south of the Hercules Glade Wilderness.

This National Recreation Trail offers backpackers, mountain bikers and equestrians a 36.5-mile route that begins with a 6-mile loop at Noblett Lake and continues south for 21 miles, where it meets a 6-mile loop at the North Fork Recreation Area (see page 49). Horses are not allowed in the day use areas at Noblett Lake or North Fork Recreation Area or near Blue Spring in the North Fork Recreation Area. The Ridge Runner Trail is popular among equestrians who are seeking an all-day ride. A 6-mile loop serves those seeking a shorter ride. Limited trailer space at the trailheads makes it difficult for more Than a few riders to use the trail at any given time. Parking is especially limited on spring and fall weekends. Horses are not allowed in the dispersed camping area below the dam, around the lake or in the picnic area.

Dispersed camping allowed

Dispersed primitive camping is allowed in loops below the dam and on the hill across from the Noblett trailhead, known locally as "Sugar Hill." Camping is not allowed in the day use area.

Picnic tables and grills are available on a first come, first serve basis. Vault toilets are available, but there is no drinking water on site. The pavilion, pictured at left, can be reserved for $50 per day at the website recreation.gov. If not reserved, it can be used on a "firstome, first-serve" basis. Reservations may be made at least four days and up to 12 months in advance. Groups of more than 75 people, whether or not they're using the pavilion, must obtain a special permit. Call 1-877-444-6777 or visit recreation.gov to book.

The Loop Trail around Noblett Lake on the north end of the Ridge Runner Trail is a good option for day hikers. If vehicle shuttling is an option, the main trunk of the Ridge Runner Trail (see above) also provides point-to-point day hike options.

)irections

From Dora in northern Ozark County, travel north on Highway 181 for 20 miles. Turn right onto State Highway AP and continue about 3 miles. Turn right onto Forest Road 857 and continue for about 1 mile to the turnoff for the day use area. The road continues to the Noblett dam and trailhead.

The North Fork Recreation Area is more commonly known by locals as Hammond access, especially in reference to the public canoe and kayak access ramp. Small jon boats can be launched here; however, motorized boats are prohibited. This is one of three public access points on the North Fork of the White River. While this access is managed by the U.S. Forest Service, the other two, at Blair Bridge and Patrick Bridge, are managed by the Missouri Department of Conservation. Private access points are offered by local outfitters Twin Bridges, River of Life Farm, Pettit's Canoe Rental, Sunburst Ranch and Dawt Mill Resort.

The North Fork Recreation Area offers 20 campsites, each with a picnic table, fire ring, post for a hanging lamp and a tent pad. Although horses are not allowed at the North Fork Recreation Area or at Blue Spring, they are allowed on trailheads nearby in the Mark Twain National Forest including the Devil's Backbone Wilderness and Ridge Runner Trail. Toni Giardina submitted this photo taken of her riding a Fox Trotter on a trail in the Mark Twain National Forest near Nottinghill.

The North Fork Recreation Area at Blue Spring serves as a gateway into the Devil's Backbone Wilderness, a 6,687-acre area of wild, public land that takes its name from a long, narrow ridge known to the area's early settlers as the Devil's Backbone. At 1,020 feet, the highest "vertebrae" of the ridge trail glides through the center of the wilderness. The trail is rated as moderately difficult with sometimes steep terrain. Thirteen miles of maintained foot and horse trails follow the Devil's Backbone and four other ridges, dropping off into surrounding hollows in a forest dominated by oaks, hickories and shortleaf pines. Although equestrians are allowed on the trail, they are not allowed near Blue Spring or in the day use area of the North Fork Recreation Area. Alternatively, horseback riders can access the Raccoon Hollow Trailhead from the south side of CC Highway about 1.5 miles east of Dora.

Hercules Glade features 32 miles of maintained trails to explore by foot or on horseback. It features steep areas, stream crossings, sparse trail markings and elevations ranging from 600 to 1,200 feet. Hikers should bring a map and compass or a GPS unit.

wetter months, many visitors can't resist hopping into Long Creek for a refreshing dip. Hikers can access the falls from routes beginning at any of the three trailheads.

This 12,413-acre wilderness encompasses some of the most scenic and unique country in the Midwest. Its varied landscapes offer unusual beauty and a measure of solitude within easy reach of those who love the outdoors.

Dispersed camping.

Dispersed camping is allowed in the Hercules Glade Wilderness Area. There are several campsites along the creek near the falls that offer a flat area to pitch a tent with stacked stone fire pits.

Three trailheads provide entry to the Hercules Glades Wilderness. The Hercules Tower Trailhead is located along Highway 125, 7 miles north of Highway 160 in Taney County. It has a vault toilet, space for camping and parking. The Blair Ridge Trailhead is also off Highway 125. Turn onto Forest Road 155 and go approximately 2 miles. Only parking is available at this location. The Coy Bald Trailhead, farthest from Ozark County, is off Highway 160, 9 miles east of Forsyth. Turn north onto Forest Road 566 and go approximately 4 miles. Only parking is available at this location.

Pigeon Creek allows the public access to Norfork Lake and sits halfway between Gainesville and Mountain Home, Arkansas. This photo was taken from the bridge by Jessi Dreckman, showing a beautiful sky.

A grove of cypress trees off the side of the roadway near the lake access makes an fascinating place to visit.

The Pigeon Creek public access on Norfork Lake is a great area to visit for a wide variety of activities. Fun can be had by lake-goers launching boats, fishing, hiking, bicycling and enjoying the unique cypress grove.

The Pigeon Creek National Recreation Trail is owned by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and is maintained through a volunteer program operated by the Twin Lakes Bicycle Club. The trail system can be accessed from Arkansas Highway 201 (a continuation of Missouri J Highway) just south of the Missouri/Arkansas line at Pigeon Creek Park on Lake Norfork.

Anglers can often be found lining the banks of Norfork Lake, and fisherman with boats use the boat ramp heavily throughout the year. Those fishing here must have an Arkansas fishing license or a Missouri fishing license with a Border Lakes tag.

The Pigeon Creek "stacked loop" trail ulti-use Trail system consists of more than 20 miles of bicycling and hiking trails along the shores of Lake Norfork. The trail system is a favorite with off-road bicyclists and draws a large crowd from all over the Midwest. No horses or motorized vehicles are allowed on the trails. The trailhead is on the west (right) side of Highway 201, opposite the boat ramp side, when coming from Missouri. There is a small parking lot allowing hikers or bikers access to leave their vehicles.

The park includes a public boat-launch ramp and parking lot for visitors. The lake in this area is enjoyed by swimmers during the summer months. There is no lifeguard, and using the water access is done at one's own risk.

Jirections

From Gainesville, take Highway 160 east to J Highway. Turn right (south) and continue into Arkansas, where the road becomes Arkansas 201. Pigeon Creek Park is approximately 6 miles south of the state line on Lake Norfork.

Two hiking trails wind through the northern end of park, the 4.5 mile Pike Hollow Trail and the more accessible .6-mile Pinewoods Trail, allowing users to see Missouri's only species of native pine, and picnic tables provide visitors a place to relax and take in their surroundings.

Four tributary hollows go through uncut forest and sandstone outcrops, providing lots of character and scenic views. The park's remote location, bountiful flora and fauna, and pristine creek make it a great place to experience the wonders of the Ozarks.

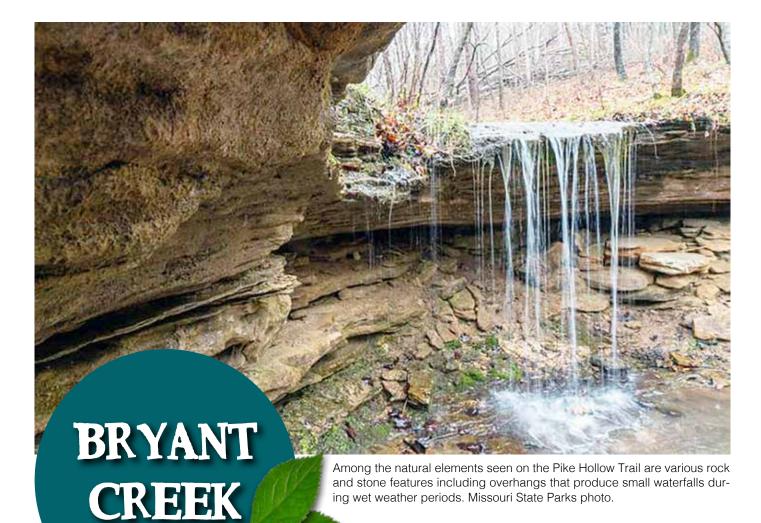

Located near Rockbridge, Bryant Creek State Park is home to impressively large oaks and shortleaf pines spanning rugged, steeply dissected river hills that front the stream for which it's named. With over 2,900 acres, the park features many natural attributes including 2 miles of Bryant Creek frontage.

Guests with mobility issues can now more easily enjoy Bryant Creek State Park thanks to an electronic track chair on site. The track chair provides access to Pinewoods Trail and the overlook and is available for use June 1 through Oct. 31, Thursday through Saturday. Produced by the Action Trackchair company, the chair is an electric all-terrain wheelchair that offers guests with mobility challenges the opportunity to partake in outdoor activities. With a track chair, guests can explore trails and visit parts of Missouri state parks or historic sites that are not suitable for regular wheelchairs.

These sturdier, more rugged chairs use tank-like tracks instead of wheels to allow guests to traverse some of the rougher, uneven trails found in Missouri state parks. All-terrain track chairs can navigate through snow, water, mud, sand and other rough conditions.

Using the track chair is free. Reservations must be made at least two days in advance by calling 417-683-2520. Also, a friend or family member 18 years or older must go along to help, because park representatives are not always available or able to help users transfer to or from the chair. Due to battery life, the chair can be reserved for two hours at a time.

SPOUT SPRING NATURE TRAIL

Caney Mountain Conservation Area, See page 36

Distance and configuration: 3-mile outand-back trail

Facilities: Restrooms, parking, camping and picnic areas

Description: This easy trail traverses 1.5 miles of the shady depths of Caney Creek Valley in the Caney Mountain Conservation Area's interior. The trail follows Caney Creek most of the way, providing beautiful scenery along the gently rolling hills. There are a few shallow-water crossings along the way, and a picnic table just a short way from the trailhead provides a nice spot for a packed lunch.

Directions: From Gainesville, travel north on Highway 181 to Caney Mountain Conservation Area Headquarters Road, on the left. When you get to the headquarters area, bear right to stay on the Main Trail. The trailhead is 1.5 miles ahead on the right.

PIGEON CREEK TRAIL SYSTEM

Distance and configuration: 1-mile outand-back hike

Facilities: Restrooms, camping, parking, picnic areas and water during warmer months

Description: This very short walk takes you from the campground at the North Fork Recreation Area to the turquoise, ice-cold waters of Blue Spring. The trail parallels the North Fork of the White River and, after the spring, continues on into the Devil's Backbone Wilderness area. Among the trees, cardinals, woodpeckers and other birds glide from tree to tree. Flowering dogwood and redbud trees catch springtime sunshine in the awaking forest and display brilliant colors. Averaging 7 million gallons of cold, clear water each day, Blue Spring creates a deep, oval-shaped pool about 30 feet in diameter that's surrounded on three sides by a stone wall of cherty Gasconade dolomite. #### DEVIL'S BACKBONE LOOP

North Fork Recreation Area, page 49
Distance and configuration: 10-mile or 13-mile balloon loop options; a 4-mile out-and-back option makes for a good day trip

Map: www.ozarktrail.com/northfork.php Description: The Devil's Backbone Wilderness includes 13 miles of moderately difficult trails within the area accessible from Blue Spring Trailhead, including a 10-mile loop or a 13-mile loop option. Accessed from the North Fork Recreation Area, known locally as Hammond access, visitors can follow the half-mile trail to Blue Spring (horses are prohibited in this trailhead and near Blue Spring), then travel along a bluffline and down to the North Fork River around mile 2. This stop provides a nice spot for a picnic and a 4-mile hiking option to return back to the trailhead for those desiring a shorter trek. After the river, hikers can take a left onto a trail to make a 10-mile loop or continue straight for a 13-mile loop. The other three trailheads – Raccoon Hollow on the south side of CC Highway about 1.5 miles east of Dora; McGarr Ridge Trailhead on the south side of CC Highway about 4 miles east of Dora; and Collins Ridge Trailhead on County Road KK/362 about 16 miles west of West Plains – provide options for point-to-point hikes as well. The terrain is sometimes steep, ranging in elevation from 1,020 to 680 feet, and there are few blazes. Visitors should bring a map and compass and be comfortable route-finding if continuing on past the 4-mile out-and-back hike.

Directions: From Gainesville, take Highway 181 to CC Highway just south of Dora; turn right onto CC east and continue 3 miles.

RIDGE RUNNER TRAIL

North Fork Recreation Area, page 49
Distance and configuration: 22-mile point-to-point

Facilities: Restrooms, camping, parking, picnic areas and water at trailhead during warmer months

incorporates parts of two shorter loop routes at Noblett Lake (8 miles) and North Fork Recreation Area (12 miles). The diverse vegetation along the trail includes native wild flowers and remnant prairie species, oak-hickory, shortleaf pine and bottom land forests. The Ridge Runner Trail is rated as moderate and ranges in elevation from 800 to 1,100 feet. The trail is not well defined in some areas and crosses several old logging roads, so visitors should feel comfortable routefinding and should bring a map and compass. Backpackers and hikers should carry plenty of water, as stream accesses are limited to the northern and southern ends of the trail, and water sources can be extremely scarce. The trail is designed and maintained for foot traffic, horse use and mountain bike use. Motorized travel. including on dirt bikes and ATVs, is not permitted.

Directions: From Gainesville, take Highway 181 to CC Highway just south of Dora; turn right on CC east and continue 3 miles.

NOBLETT LAKE LOOP

Noblett Lake Recreation Area, page 45 Distance and configuration: 8-mile loop Facilities: Restrooms, camping, parking, picnic areas and water at trailhead during warmer months.

Map: www.ozarktrail.com/northfork

Description: An 8-mile loop trail surrounding the 26-acre Noblett Lake provides an appealing opportunity for hikers, equestrians and mountain bikers. This challenging, single-track loop is crisscrossed by a double-track horse trail and crosses Noblett and Spring creeks and Cord Hollow. Trail users sometimes describe deadfall, difficult route-finding and steep, loose hills on the trek. The east half of the loop, by the lake, forms the northern end of the Ridge Runner section of the Ozark Trail, which ends at the North Fork Recreation Area. The frustrations of this trail are usually more than offset by the beauty of the surroundings, the adventure of an unfamiliar and remote experience, and the great view of Noblett Lake from the amazing downhill section near the end of the hike.

Directions: From Gainesville, take Highway 181 north, continuing past Dora to AP Highway in Douglas County. Turn right and follow AP for about 3 miles then turn right onto Forest Road 857 and continue for about 1 mile to the turnoff for the day-use area. The road continues to the Noblett dam and trailhead.

Description: Coy Bald Trail is a 6.8-mile lightly trafficked loop trail located within the Hercules Glade Wilderness near Bradlevville. The loop features a waterfall and is rated as moderate. The trail offers a number of activity options and is accessible year-round. Dogs are also permitted on this trail but must be kept on a leash. From this and other trailheads in the Hercules Glade Wilderness Area. 32 miles of maintained trails traverse open glades, forested ridgetops and Long Creek, the primary drainage of the area. Crosscountry hiking in other parts of the area is allowed. Key attractions along the trail include Long Creek Falls, panoramic views of the Ozarks countryside and a variety of native landscapes, including open limestone glades and mixed forests.

Directions: From Gainesville, head west on Highway 160 for 39 miles. Turn right (north) onto Cross Timber Road (Forest Road 566), and drive approximately 4 miles to the trailhead.

PIKE HOLLOW TRAIL

Bryant Creek State Park, page 58
Distance and configuration: 4.5 mile loop.

Facilities: Parking lot, picnic tables, pit toilets.

Description: The Pike Hollow Trail is a 4.5-mile "rugged" trail is expected to take four and a half hours to complete. It takes hikers along long ledges of Roubidoux sandstone. The outcrops form intriguing, weather-worn shapes. Bryant Creek State Park is heavily forested, deeply carved and sharply incised. With 940 kinds of plants, the park preserves more wild-flowers, shrubs, trees and other vascular plant species than any area of Missouri yet studied, encompassing within these 3,000 acres nearly one-third of Missouri's total known flora. More species of lichen have been discovered at Bryant Creek than in all but one other Missouri State Park. Nearly 70 kinds of forest, woodland and shrubland birds are known to nest in the park, and many more pass through during spring and fall migrations.

PINEWOODS TRAIL

Bryant Creek State Park, page 58 Distance and configuration: .6-mile loop.

Facilities: Parking lot, picnic tables, pit toilets.

Description: Pinewoods Trail leisurely leads visitors through the narrow ridgetop covered in native pine, just to the edge of the rugged drop off to the sandstone geography below. This 0.6-mile trail is a great way to see Missouri's only native Shortleaf Pine.

Directions: From Gainesville, travel north on Highway 181 for 7 miles. Turn left onto N Highway in Zanoni, and continue for 12 more miles.

Ozark County has five historic mills still standing, two of which - Dawt and Rockbridge - offer resort amenities. Take a week to explore each one, but please be mindful of those located on private property.

Dawt Mill - This rebuilt landmark, once the heart of a tiny Ozarks milling village founded in the mid-1800s, is the modern-day focus of a resort in a beautiful setting along the bank of the North Fork of the White River. Located northeast of Tecumseh on County Road 318, off Highway 160 via PP Highway, Dawt Mill was the last operating grist mill in Ozark County. Built in 1897, Dawt once was a town with a blacksmith shop, store, church and hotel. The first mill was built on the site in 1892, but later burned. The property has changed hands many times. The present mill was built in 1909 by Alva Hodgson. Following several owners through the years, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Henegar purchased the mill in 1995 and began a major restoration and renovation of the surrounding property. It is now a resort.

Hammond Mill - The original mill at Hammond was built in 1856 out of local logs. A replacement mill burned in 1876, and that mill's replacement washed away in a 1904 flood. The current structure was built as a four-story roller mill in 1907. At one time, tall black lettering on the side of the white mill identified the building as the "Home of Ozark Queen Flour." The mill, privately owned, is not open to the public, but it's viewable from County Road 855, off D Highway about 3 miles southeast of Thornfield. At one time the old mill was the heart of a quaint Ozarks village that also included a licensed distillery, a bank, a sawmill, general store and a post office that opened in 1894. Milling ceased at Hammond in the early 1940s, and the little town essentially disappeared after the Bank of Hammond closed.

Hodgson Mill - This beautiful old grist mill, on Highway 181 about 12 miles northeast of Gainesville, stands a short distance from Bryant Creek, where generations of residents and visitors have cooled off on hot summer days in a swimming hole just above the lowwater Highway 181 bridge. The Sycamore access to the Bryant, a creek-gravel boat launch, is just downstream. The first mill on this site was built in 1883, powered by what is said to be the 15th largest spring in Missouri. Rebuilt by Alva Hodgson in 1897, the mill continued producing flour and meal for decades before falling into disuse. In 1969, Ken and Teena Harrington took over the lease and began producing Hodgson Mill stone-ground products that soon were distributed in grocery stores nationwide. Today those products, in packages carrying a stylized picture of Hodgson Mill, are still sold in some stores, now produced by an Illinois-based company. The mill is closed to the public, but the roadside parking area in front of the overflowing mill pond is a perfect rest stop and picture backdrop.

Rockbridge Mill - The original Rockbridge settlement, a few miles away from the present-day site, served as Ozark County's first seat of government. After the town was destroyed by raiders during the Civil War, the post office reopened in 1867 at Rockbridge's present site on Spring Creek off N Highway near the Douglas-Ozark County line. Rockbridge Mill was built here in 1892 by B. V. Morris, whose son, Frank, took over milling operations after his dad's death in 1918. Lile and Edith Amyx and Dr. M. C. and India Amyx purchased the property in 1954 and launched Rainbow Trout Ranch, one of the Ozarks' most successful and enduring resorts. Today, this picturesque attraction sits on 2,000 scenic acres, including 2 miles of sparkling clear Spring Creek stocked with rainbow trout from the resort's own hatchery. A wide variety of lodging facilities is available plus a full-service restaurant that attracts diners from throughout the Ozarks. Resort guests enjoy the swimming pool, hiking trails, a gun club and, in season, guided turkey and deer hunts. For more information, call 417-679-3619 or visit rockbridgemo.com.

Zanoni Mill - Located 9 miles northeast of Gainesville on Highway 181, Zanoni Mill features a big, overshot water wheel powered by a hillside spring with a daily average flow estimated at 194,000 gallons. The current mill is the successor to earlier versions that have operated on the site since before the Civil War. A village grew up around the mill, including a general store and post office, a blacksmith shop and a cotton gin. Milling operations ended in 1951, but the general store and post office continued at Zanoni until owner A.P. Morrison's death in 1969. Morrison's daughter, Classy Shanks, then became postmaster and moved the post office a few miles west on Highway 181. Later Zanoni owners Dave and Mary Morrison built a large home they eventually adapted into a popular bed and breakfast; they also rebuilt the mill as a quaint site for special events, including weddings and family reunions. Today Zanoni Mill is owned by a private family who offers the scenic place as a special event and wedding venue. The mill and nearby general store and post office, long closed, are viewable from nearby Highway 181.

OZARK COUNTY MILL TOUR

63 miles, approximate drivetime 2.5 hours

Ozark County is home to five historic grist mills (see page 70) and many visitors enjoy a driving tour to visit them. Here's a route that lets you see the four mills on the west side of the county. A fifth mill, Hammond, on County Road 855 off D Highway south of Thornfield, has been converted to a private residence.

Directions: Starting from the Gainesville square, head east on Highway 160 to Highway 181. Travel several miles on Highway 181, going past the Caney Mountain Conservation Area and continuing to N Highway. Head north on N for 10-12 miles, crossing Highway 95 and continuing on N Highway to County Road 142 (watch for the Rockbridge sign). After visiting Rockbridge, return to N Highway and retrace your route back to Highway 181. Turn left (east) and drive along the ridge and down the steep Zanoni Hill. Zanoni Mill is on the left (north) side of the road at the bottom of the hill and is viewable from the highway. Continue on Highway 181 another 5 miles or so, and shortly after crossing Bryant Creek, you'll see Hodgson Mill on the right (east) side of the road. Enjoy a photo stop and then head on to Dawt Mill by continuing northeast on Highway 181 to its junction with H Highway. Turn right (south) on H and continue to PP Highway. Turn right onto PP, and a mile or so after crossing the North Fork of the White River, turn right (west) onto County Road 318 at Clear Springs Church. Dawt is about a mile down the road. To return to Gainesville, get back on PP and continue southeast to Highway 160. Turn right (west) on 160 and drive about 11 miles.

GLADE TOP TRAIL LOOP

70 miles, approximate drivetime 3.5 hours

A trip to the Ozarks isn't complete without a ride over the Glade Top Trail (see page 40), Missouri's first National Forest Scenic Byway. The 23-mile gravel roadway offers travelers glimpses of some of the most spectacular panoramic views in Missouri. This drive is particularly scenic during the fall months when the leaves have changed color along the trail. The Caney Picnic Area, about halfway, is a nice place to stop and enjoy a picnic lunch, a beautiful view and a breath of Ozark Mountain air. Continue to the trail's end near the Longrun community then drive on to Theodosia to view Bull Shoals Lake before returning to Gainesville.

Directions: Starting from the Gainesville square, head north on Highway 5 for 27 miles into Douglas County. Turn left (west) onto Douglas County A Highway a few miles south of Ava. (Be careful not to turn onto Ozark County A Highway south of Wasola.) Continue on Douglas County Highway A for 3.6 miles. Turn left onto County Road 409 at the sign for Glade Top Trail. Follow the signs along the 23-mile trail. At the trail's end, you can return the way you came or, at Wolf Junction, where the trail splits, bear left on Forest Service Road 147 for about 2 miles. The gravel road will turn onto hard-surfaced Highway 95 near Longrun. Turn right (south) onto 95 and drive to Highway 160. Turn left (east) onto 160 and continue about 20 miles back to Gainesville. You will cross Theodosia Bridge over Bull Shoals Lake about 3 miles after turning onto Highway 160.

EXPLORE THE BACKROADS

Some of the best Ozarks scenery is off the beaten track. So fill up the gas tank, check the tires, pack a lunch and explore the winding, roller-coaster roadways of Ozark County and beyond. Endless beauty is waiting just around the bend!

For generations, Ozark County's rugged beauty, clean air, crystal-clear streams, inviting lakes and game-rich forests have attracted vacationers seeking quiet solitude, active water activities or rewarding hunting and fishing. Visitors from coast to coast have discovered the amazingly affordable joys of Ozarks living and the cherished sense of independence we enjoy in our rather isolated corner of the world, where the nearest three-color traffic light is 30 miles away.

If you're thinking along those lines, check out the area's talented realtors and real estate agents who can help you find just the right place.

It might be a home in town with convenient services or that little farm you've always wanted or a house overlooking the water or set on a hillside with panoramic views.

THE REAL OZARKS MAGAZINE

Electricity

Depending on where you live in the county, your electric service will be provided by one of two cooperatives.

In central and western Ozark County, it's White River Valley Electric Co-op (contact the co-op's Gainesville office at 417-679-4916; whiteriver.org).

On the far-east side, it's Howell-Oregon Electric Co-op (417-256-2131; hoecoop.org).

Important: Before you move, contact the cooperative serving your area and make sure the power will be turned on the day you arrive. Sellers usually close their accounts and have the power turned off when they leave; without notifying the co-op of your expected arrival, you could spend your first days here in the dark!

Water/sewer

If your new home is in one of Ozark County's three incorporated villages, your water will be provided by the city of Bakersfield (417-284-7238) or Gainesville (417-679-4858) or Public Water District No. 1 in Theodosia (417-273-4825).

If you're outside these areas, you'll most likely have a private well with an electric pump. (See the note in the electricity section about the importance of contacting the electric co-op providing service to your area before your move-in day).

Sewer service is located in some areas of the designated cities. For information on sewer service, contact Gainesville and Bakersfield cities (number above) or the Village of Theodosia at 417-273-4830. The majority of residents in Ozark County operate on private septic tanks, lagoons or other sewage devices.

Fireworks displays

Fourth of July and Labor Day weekends

Area events

Celebrate the Fourth of July, Ozark County-style! The county's free fireworks displays are open to everyone, although related festivities, including games, food vendors and fundraiser offerings may have charges or request donations. Enjoy the fun on Fourth of July weekend with a show at the Theodosia Corps of Engineers park and Theodosia Marina Resort off Highway 160 on Bull Shoals Lake. Another show is potentially being planned for Gainesville around Fourth of July this year. Check the Ozark County Chamber of Commerce's Facbeook page for updated information. The fun continues Labor Day weekend with fireworks at the Pontiac campground and Pontiac Cove Marina, also on Bull Shoals.

Bakersfest

Held in September Bakersfest, the annual festival that celebrates everything Bakersfield, packs the little town with happy folks who gather each year on the second Saturday in September. Festival events vary a little with each rendition but usually include a big car show and lots of family-style activities with food vendors and game booths that fill the town's Pride Park with colorful fun. The event usually includes the crowning of Bakersfest royalty as

Hootin an Hollarin

Sept. 18-20, 2025

Ozark County's Hootin an Hollarin festival has been drawing families, friends and visitors together on the Gainesville square for more than 60 vears. The beloved event celebrates old-fashioned traditions and highlights downhome country music all day and into the night. Square dancers swirl under the lights, accompanied by some of the Ozarks' best fiddlers and strummers. A wide variety of contests include gun and archery shoots, cornhole, a quilt show and such silliness as hog- and husbandcalling contests that keep the laughter and adrenaline flowing. Through it all, a large outdoor craft fair offers the cleverest handmade items imagin-

Wonders of Christmas on the square

Gainesville, a Friday in December

The annual Wonders of Christmas event in Gainesville transforms the square into a magical holiday wonderland. The festival is generally held on a Friday night in the first two weeks of December. Vendors selling a wide variety of homemade food. festive drinks and Christmas present options give guests lots to see. A Mr. and Miss Merry Christmas contest, open to area children ages 4-5, usually is held in the gazebo on the northwest side of the square. The annual Jingle Bell Parade is the largest parade in Ozark County next to the annual Hootin an Hollarin parade. The night generally wraps up with Santa and Mrs. Claus visiting with children in the gazebo and the annual lighting of the gazebo's Christmas tree. Search for "Wonders of Christmas" on Facebook or contact Paula Rose at 417-989-1282 for information on the event.

Bakersfield Christmas

Bakersfield, a Saturday in December

A lot of hardworking volunteers put on a jolly good time each December with a Christmas festival. The event opens usually opens with a pancake breakfast with Santa Claus at the Bakersfield School cafeteria, followed by other activities that, in the past, have included a parade, craft fair, Christmas tree lighting and more.

Theodosia Christmas

Theodosia Village Hall, usually a Saturday in December

The Theodosia Village has hosted a Christmas tree lighting the last two years at Village Hall. A cookie-baking contest is generally held the week before with winners announced at the event, and crafters and other vendors have items for sale.
